DRAGONS. The boys who are representing Warren high school on the basketball court in varsity engagements took a few minutes the other night to pose for an

Civil Service Upholds Captain Hartwell Willey

The Warren borough council learned at its Monday meeting that the borough had lost another round to Fire Captain Hartwell Willey, who last June appealed to the civil service commission. Given a hearing in October he claimed he had been ordered to perform tasks not in line with his rank and had been told not to give orders. The commission found that he had been divested of his rank contrary to law and the borough was advised to respect his rights and authority.

The public safety committee at the same time introduced a new set of regulations for the fire department, which council voted to hold over for study before taking action next week. The committee seemed anxious to have the rules read before the decision, but council saw it otherwise.

The portion of the new regulations which apparently applies to the captain situation comes under the heading of "Shift Captains". Though Warren has three captains, one of whom, James Tridico, now is acting chief, the proposed rule says there shall be two "chief" captains, and that there shall be a shift captain in charge of each shift who shall be stationed at Central Fire Station. It then goes on to name their duties.

A letter was read by Councilman Carbon which stated that the borough would receive $1508.35 from the Nellie Horton Schwing estate. This is the prorated amount left from the $2,000 willed to Memorial field in the Schwing will. Council voted to accept this amount and to deposit it in the Warren Borough Recreation Fund.

Council voted to accept the fleet bid of Dan's Chevrolet for a police car and a station wagon at a net cost of $2600 and the two present vehicles, a Hudson sedan and a Plymouth station wagon.

The bid was $200 higher than the fleet bid of the Keystone Garage, but the Keystone bid did not include the necessary check. Simones and Cook bid a net $1623 for its International Travel-All.

Special parking meter regulations were passed for the Christmas shopping week, continuing them in force until nine o'clock in the evening. This starts Saturday and lasts until Christmas Eve.

Another police regulation was changed to allow parking between the curb and the sidewalk on the west side of Main st., between St. Clair and Crescent Park, for a period of two hours.

Council established fees for various services, including $10 for fixing a sidewalk grade, $10 for locating a sewer Y, $1 for the use of the borough scale during regular hours and $2 during off hours. (The scale fee is expected to raise the annual scale income from $400 to $1200.)

Council authorized the secretary to publish its intention to adopt the $5 per capita tax January 10, with an estimated yield of $40,000.

Councilman Yagge mentioned that the building and lands committee was considering the possible sale of the land the borough owns at the foot of Market st., reserving the right to maintain a street through that area. He said it no doubt would work through the planning committee.

"THE STORY OF BETHLEHEM", a pageant by Edith Sanford Tillotson and Lee Ellis, was presented by the Court Warren Catholic Daughters of America before 150 members at their annual Christmas party held Monday evening in St. Joseph's Hall. The Catholic Daughter choir under the direction of Mrs. A. B. Chiaramonte, group singing of familiar Christmas carols, and gifts distributed by Santa completed the evening's program.

The cast, pictured above in a typical scene, consisted of: (left to right) Mrs. Joseph Tassone, Mrs. A. B. Chiaramonte, Mrs. Richard Curren, Mrs. A. J. Donick, Mrs. Joseph Mastrian, Mrs. Robert Daye, Mrs. Marie McGarry, Mrs. Samuel Bonavita, Mrs. Cletus Brady, Mrs. William Hesch, Mrs. Anthony Oriole, Mrs. August Cerra, and Mrs. Charles Musante.

The pageant will be repeated this evening for the St. Joseph Altar Rosary Society.

OFFICIAL OPENING. Burgess William Rice cut the bright red ribbon at 8:45 a. m., Monday, and the new building of the Manufacturer's Light and Heat Company was officially opened. Employees (left to right) Miss Violet Peterson, Miss Elizabeth Day, Max T. Crosby, Miss Ruth Brezelle, and Manager Guy O. McKinley were on hand to serve coffee to the patrons. The modern office has a large, convenient kitchen which is being made available for homemaking and cooking classes sponsored by community organizations.

SWEDISH LADY MIXES BUSINESS WITH PLEASURE. Miss Ruth Johansson of Stockholm, Sweden, left Warren on Tuesday for a tour of Western United States which will continue until she departs for her native land in March. Miss Johansson had been visiting Mrs. Mabel Bauer, Warren, with whom she became acquainted last summer in Sweden.

The visitor, a representative of the Swedish Touring Club is making a study of American cafeterias and youth hostels. She reported that our country boasts 130 such hostels of which 26 are located in the New England states.

The international federation which controls the youth hostels offers membership to any who are interested in traveling. They offer overnight sleeping accommodations for seventy-five cents in the United States and for as little as thirty cents in most of the twenty-seven member nations. Last year over three hundred thousand overnights were recorded in Sweden of which eighteen thousand were Americans.

BIBLE DISPLAY FEATURED UNIQUE EDITIONS. Twenty-seven books were displayed in the foyer of the First Baptist Church, Warren, on Sunday, December 12, in observance of Universal Bible Sunday. The bibles were arranged for inspection by Mrs. Ray Tibbott. The feature attraction was the Lindmark family bible, printed in Swedish, and bearing the date 1674. Services will be held at 10 a. m., Friday, from St. John's church. Albert E. Johnson, 76, Warren, died in the Warren General Hospital Wednesday, December 15. Services are incomplete. Mrs. Gunhilda Benson, 58 Mill st., Sheffield, died Thursday, December 16, at her home. Services are incomplete.

inside the front cover. Mrs. Linea Lindmark Lucas, the present owner, feels certain that the date is authentic and that the bible is at least 280 years old. Other interesting exhibits included a Jewish prayer book, a children's picture bible, The Pentateuch (the first five books of the bible) in the Hebrew language, a Douay version which is approximately seventy-five years old, and a Greek New Testament. Creating a great deal of interest were two unusual editions: a New Testament in basic English which uses only one thousand different words, and a bible marked with four different colors to indicate special emphases of the Scriptures. Pictured with the display are Mrs. Tibbott, Mrs. Lucas, and the pastor, G. Forrest Sparks.

The Santa Claus Season

Santa Claus season is with us again and we'll just have to bear up bravely. From now on, the situation comedies will be exclusively concerned with what Lucy gets Desi for Christmas and what Ozzie gets Harriet and what Gracie gets George. And the snowflakes will fall and "White Christmas" will resound through the land.

The celebration of Christmas gets earlier and earlier on television. There are only so many situations and the writers for each husband and wife team want to get in there first with the hidden gift in the front hall closet, the mixup over the mink coats, and so forth. These things are getting as traditional as mistletoe and we mustn't grouse about it. The English have their pantomimes every Christmas. And we have Lucy getting all balled up about what Desi wants for Christmas.

Which brings me to "Ethel and Albert", one of the most charming of the husband and wife things. Now their pitch this year - or at least, one of their pitches because I expect they'll have a couple more before Christmas is out of the way - was to get Albert hopelessly involved in playing an angel in the church Christmas pageant, a project for which he quite understandably had no enthusiasm whatsoever.

This is a situation that could very easily have got unbearably sticky. But Miss Peg Lynch writes these little fables - and Miss Lynch and Alan Bunce play them - with such reticence and understatement that it was not only charming but very, very funny. There was one scene in which the minister trapped Albert into this horrible situation with what might be described as diabolical benignity. It was a little masterpiece of light comedy.

And later, when a bibulous friend wandered in and caught Albert in his angel costume, wings and all, and quizzed him in a drunken deadpan way about whether he's troubled by ice on his wings in this weather, well, it was excruciatingly funny. Within the rigid limitations in which husband and wife TV comedy is forced to operate, "Ethel And Albert" is very mature light comedy and not nearly as widely appreciated as it ought to be.

I don't suppose any one man has clear title to the designation Number 1 TV dramatist but Paddy Chayevsky certainly has a good claim on it. Chayevsky has written such TV classics as "Marty" which is now being made into a movie, "The Bachelor Party" and "Printer's Measure."

His latest, "Catch My Boy On Sunday" on Philco Playhouse Sunday night, while a little different from the others, was mighty hard-hitting, too. This was a story about a stage mother whose driving ambition for her ten-year-old son, the outgrowth of her own loveless and terribly frustrated childhood, comes close to ruining the child.

Like most of the things Chayevsky writes, it unfolds gradually, revealing bit by bit the private hell in which each of his characters lives, the mother who was never admired, the dentist who didn't want to be a dentist, and the boy. It is Chayevsky's great gift to be able to write as if he were viewing these people through a keyhole, a style absolutely suited to the intimacy of the television medium.

Mostly, Chayevsky's characters understate their lonely misery, and I was afraid the author was perhaps trapped forever in understatement which has its limits. But in drawing his mother, a shrill possessed neurotic on the verge of a nervous breakdown, Chayevsky was writing for a change in a high key and doing it with superb forcefulness. And Sylvia Sidney was perfectly wonderful in the part.

Things to Come

We Wish You A Merry Christmas. The combined high school choirs under the direction of Carroll Fowler will be wishing those who attend the annual Christmas Carol Festival Monday evening a "Merry Christmas" when they begin singing at 8 p. m. in the Beaty gym. A special feature will be the cantata, "The Shepherd's Christmas", which the group, composed of 170 voices, will sing. A variety of selections will be sung by the a cappella choir alone. Some of their songs include the traditional "Carol of the Bells", "Carillion Heigh Ho", and the Swedish carol, "The Christmas Snows Of Sweden". The audience will join in singing the familiar carols of Christmas.

Included in the festival will be the high school orchestra under the leadership of Harry Summers who will be heard playing appropriate Yuletide selections.

Snow Ball Scheduled. Teenagers of Beaty Junior high school will be dancing to the music of Deacon Dave and His Society Seven Thursday evening, December 23, when the ninth grade Y-Teens sponsor a dance given the name "The Snow Ball" in the Y.W.C.A. gym.

The girls, attired in formals, will arrive with their dates at 8 p. m. Tickets may be bought from the following members of the ticket committee: Joan Dunham, Sally McCarty, Judy Peterson, Sally Printz, Marlene Rader, Pat Ross, and Diane Seymour.

All members of the decorating committee are asked to be at the Y.W.C.A. at 10 a. m. the morning of the dance to put the finishing touches on the decorations.

Candlelight Concert. The senior and junior choirs of the Grace Methodist church will present a Christmas Candlelight carol service for the public Sunday at 4:30 p. m. in the church sanctuary. Mr. Charles Bergman and his son Alan will be heard as violin soloists during the concert.

Hats, Hats, And More Hats. Hats and other fashions will be shown at the hat show the Warren Welcome Wagon Newcomers Club is planning for Thursday, February 3, at the Y.W.C.A. The Betty Lee store will provide the styles for the show which will begin at 8 p. m.

Let's Go Swimming. Members of the Beaty and high school Y-Teens will be diving and swimming in the pool at the Y.M.C.A. when they hold their weekly swim Tuesday evening.

The aquatic lovers will gather at 7 p. m. for their swim.

Party For Ali-We-Je. The Ali-We-Je Club of the Y.W.C.A. will gather at 6 p. m. this evening for a dinner meeting. A Christmas program in charge of Jane Wollston will be presented following the dinner.

Dickson Class To Meet. A Christmas program will be presented at the monthly meeting of the First Presbyterian church's Dickson Class this evening at 8 p. m. The group will gather at the home of Mrs. Katherine Scalise, 306 McPherson St. Miss Hulda Angermann is in charge of devotions, and serving on the committee for the program are Mrs. Katherine Baughman, Mrs. Mildred Garrison, Mrs. Arnella Gladd, Mrs. Jane Greenlund, Mrs. Dagna Korb, and Mrs. Margaret Middaugh.

Lions Club Meeting. Dr.

G. F. Chimenti will be guest speaker at the Tuesday meeting of the Warren Lions Club. Dr. Chimenti's subject will be "Eye Disorders".

To Sing For Rotarians. The Warren high school a cappella choir will present a program of Christmas songs for members of the Warren Rotary Club and their wives Monday. Included in their program will be the well known, "Jingle Bells", "The Angels Song", and "The Song of Mary".

Party For Music Pupils. A Christmas Party will be held for the pupils of the Warren Conservatory of Music Saturday at the Youth Canteen beginning at 7:30 p. m. and lasting until 10 p. m. The faculty of the school has planned an evening full of entertainment, with prizes and refreshments.

Marines Christmas Dance. The annual Christmas dance sponsored by the General Joseph H. Pendleton Detachment, Marine Corps League will get underway Saturday evening, December 25, at the Marconi Outing Club. Sam Caracetta and his Belle Aires will provide music for dancing.

Reorganization Meeting. The County School directors will meet in a reorganization meeting tomorrow at 10 a. m. The meeting will be held in the County Superintendent's office.

Happy Holidays. The staff in the Warren County Girl Scout office will be enjoying the holidays when they close Friday, December 24.

Eastern Star Dinner. The Past Matrons of the Eastern Star will gather for a dinner meeting Tuesday at the Y.W.C.A. The meal will be served at 6 p. m.

Kiwanians To Entertain Ladies. The wives of the Warren Kiwanis Club members will be honored at a luncheon meeting Wednesday.

First Aid Instructors Course. A First Aid Instructors course will be held for those people who completed the advanced first aid course, Monday evening, January 3 at the Red Cross Chapter house. Mr. Dexter Galuska, representative from Eastern Area American Red Cross will instruct the classes which will continue through January 7.

Teachers To Have Party. A Christmas dinner and program will be held this evening for members of the Warren high school staff and their families in the school cafeteria.

Saint Nicholas will be present to add to the gaiety of the occasion. The invited guests at the banquet will be the retired teachers.

John Stachkowiak is in charge of the party, assisted by Miss Anna Jane Hawkins. Other members on the committee are Miss Mira Heerlein, Miss Margaret Horan, Luke Noecker, Mrs. Marion Robertson, Norman Sampson, Harry Summers, and Robert Young.

K. of C. Children's Party. The children of the Knights of Columbus will be treated to a Christmas party Sunday afternoon at 2 p. m. in the K. of C. Hall. A special highlight will be the arrival of Santa Claus. Entertainment has been planned, and refreshments will be served.

Movie Party For Youngsters. The children of Warren and vicinity are all invited to the annual Christmas Theatre party planned for Friday December 24, at the Library Theatre. Candy and other treats will be presented boys and girls by Santa Claus himself. The party is being sponsored by the Warren Lodge of Moose, Warren Lodge of Elks, Warren Times Mirror, and the Stanley-Warner Theatres. Further details will be announced later.

Cards Anyone? Members of the Warren high school Future Business Leaders of America Club are collecting used Christmas cards to be given to the patients at the Warren State Hospital for decorative work, today and this evening. The girls will solicit from door to door, but for any who are not contacted, boxes for collection will be placed in the Metzger-Wright and Penney stores. Cards will also be collected January 3, 4.

TVA For India And Holy Land

By Thomas L. Stokes

WASHINGTON -- Around here we generally look upon Eugene R. Black, Jr., president of the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development, as a conservative sort of gentleman.

Before he came here in 1947 with what is usually called "The World Bank," the tall, agreeable Southerner -- he is a native of Atlanta, Ga. -- had been for 14 years with Chase National Bank in New York, the last ten as a vice president. He is carrying along a tradition here, for his father, the late Eugene R. Black, was chairman of the board of governors of the Federal Reserve System during the Roosevelt Administration.

Conservative as "Gene" Black may regard himself, however, he may suddenly find himself listed some day among promoters of "creeping socialism," because of the present climate and temper of our politics. And "creeping socialism" at the international level, involving a scheme clear across the world in India. "Global creeping socialism" might be somewhat more horrendous than that here at home in public development of our river systems for reclamation and power and navigation, which now is coming under such severe attack.

President Black's "crime," if that it becomes, all grew out of a helpful and neighborly gesture to India and Pakistan in the interest of utilizing the waters of the Indus River system. On a visit to that part of the world a few years back he learned about the dispute that broke out between India and Pakistan after their separation in 1947 over the share of each in the waters of the Indus, which was holding back irrigation. Seeing the great potentialities for expanding irrigation, he offered the good offices of the International Bank to work out an equitable division of waters of the Indus system between the two countries so that each government could develop wide-scale irrigation.

David Lilienthal, for many years chairman of our own TVA board of directors, was consulted by the two governments and in August, 1951, recommended drafting of a comprehensive plan for utilization of the Indus River system like that of TVA for the Tennessee River system.

His point got over at once, for TVA is well-known in India, and its purpose and its service in developing a great region in our Southeast. Seemingly it is much better understood in India than in some high places here in Washington. India already is copying TVA in one giant dam project financed by its government and being built by a firm of Philadelphia engineers. That is just one example of the import of our TVA idea all over the world, another being the projected development of a TVA in the Jordan River system in the Holy Land which we are, in fact, sponsoring.

As a result of Eugene Black's interest and David Lilienthal's suggestion the Indus Basin Working Party, as it was called, was created, consisting of engineers designated by India and Pakistan and their advisors and a representative of the International Bank and his consultants. In a field trip of over a year, covering 9,000 miles, this commission inspected the whole basin and collected the necessary data.

The two governments, however, were unable to agree on a division of the Indus system waters. Each then was asked to draft a plan. These were found to differ widely. Discussion resulted in some concessions on each side, but still insufficient for agreement.

President Black then decided that the solution would be for the bank to draft a plan for submission to each side, but with the clear understanding that the bank's role was not that of judge or arbiter, though free to advise and express its views on any aspects through its representative.

Such a plan was drafted and submitted to India and Pakistan last February. This interesting sponsorship of a TVA along the Indus by one of our recognized conservative financiers came back into the news last week when representatives of India and Pakistan came here and sat down with representatives of the bank to see if they can work out a detailed engineering plan for the Indus River system based on the division of waters proposed in the bank's plan. In a statement issued here, the bank expressed confidence that, despite some apparent difficulties, "no insurmountable obstacle exists to a settlement which will benefit both countries."

So, once again, we are in the process of exporting our original American idea while short-sighted people are busily at work trying to squelch it here where it all started and where it already has done much for the national economy and our people.

BUILDING BETTER CHILDREN FOR THE FUTURE AND BETTER FUTURE FOR THE CHILDREN

THAT DAY. That Day arrived, as I knew it would. The day that meant all of Christmas for a little girl that was meaning more to me every day.

It was a little envelope, buried in the depths of Mr. Lacy's mail-bag. Nevertheless, it was more important than any other document that he may have been carrying that day. Mr. Lacy smiled knowingly as he tenderly placed the "Happiness" check into my waiting hand.

That day had arrived but I was prepared for its appearing. The letter to Santa that was dictated to me in exciting tones, the little finger pointing to an exact place each time the catalogue was opened, and the revelations accumulated by overhearing a child at play — all had blended to help me formulate opinions in readiness for that day.

By Lewis Crippen

Sixty-five years ago, April 8, 1889, a group of civic-minded, courageous, and sympathetic women met with the intention of forming a society through which they could "aid, comfort, and assist the needy, unfortunate children of Warren County". The Children's Aid Society was born that day.

Since that time, a tremendous amount of unselfish effort has been expended and an unbelievable amount of good has been accomplished. Assistance has been rendered to the neglected children of the area.

The interests and activities of the Society are largely concerned with the following problems:

- 1. Placement of children in happy foster homes and constant supervision after the placement has been accomplished.
- 2. Work with parents toward re-establishment of homes.
- 3. Supplying all necessary medical attention for children under the Society's jurisdiction.
- 4. Counselling with unmarried parents.
- 5. Combatting behavior and special medical problems of children in their own homes.
- 6. Adoption placements.

The Children's Aid Society is trying to build better children for the future and better futures for the children of Warren County. In working toward this aim, the Society serves the following:

- 1. Children from broken homes resulting from illness, death, or parents with marital difficulties. Most of these children are placed in supervised boarding homes or institutions.
- 2. Children with serious behavior problems. In such cases, an attempt is made to help the children in their own homes with the assistance of trained psychiatrists and psychologists. When necessary, the children are removed to different environments.
- 3. Children with physical handicaps. Specialists are consulted and the Children's Aid Society works with other community agencies to provide the best possible care for the children.
- 4. Children of unmarried parents. The Society begins with the parents before the children are born and continues until satisfactory plans have been worked out for both parents and children.
- 5. Children with medical problems. Children with particular medical needs are referred to specialists and their recommendations are followed. This sometimes results in the children being cared for in boarding homes until health is improved or restored.

The "Happiness Fund" was designed to give you the opportunity of sharing your Christmas joy with others.

"OH, MOMMY! SANTA CLAUS KNEW JUST WHAT I WANTED". Two little arms held me tight. Two little cheeks were shiny with tears of joy. Two hearts beat like one in the ecstasy of the moment.

Whether it was the pressure of the golden-haired doll against my shoulder, the lump in my throat, or the increased tempo of my heart beat that I shall remember the longest, I don't know. I am certain of one thing, however. In that embrace I was repaid for daily tasks, for parental worries, and for the hundreds of weary minutes in the past year. It was "thanks" enough.

THIS ONE! Of course, it was this one. Even though there were literally dozens to choose from, I knew it at a glance. The hair, the eyes, even the dress I had seen in my dreams over and over again after tucking a little one in bed and hearing her disclose her fondest desires to the listening ear of God, and me. I had heard this doll described from a girl's imagination so many times that making the purchase from Clerk Kuhn seemed more like welcoming back a member of the family.

It wasn't the biggest doll on display. It wasn't the most expensive doll on the rack. To many, it probably was not the cutest or the cuddliest. But, this was the one, because a little girl was to love her.

THE STAFF. Through the untiring efforts of this group in the Children's Aid office — (left to right) Miss Helen M. Donaldson, case worker; Mrs. Eva Passinger, office secretary; and Miss Claire Elliott, executive director — your contributions are channeled to the points of greatest need. Help to "build better children for the future and better futures for the children" by mailing your monetary gift today.

This coupon entitles you to be one of those who will help bring happiness to some child during this Christmas Season.

A SECRET. A secret that the little girl doesn't know, I share with you. You, as family units, who have given of your abundance that others might have a really Merry Christmas. The coins shaken from a piggy bank, the pennies salvaged from the candy counter, the weightier gifts from the breadwinner combine to see that Santa brings just the right doll to the right little girl.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Thompson with children Johnny and Carol Jean show how you can answer the call of the Children's Aid through the "Happiness Fund".

OBSERVATIONS

By Bob Walsh

BUILD A NEW SCHOOL ..... OR REMODEL THE OLD?

This is the problem which many communities these days must solve, though in some cases there may not be money available for either. Right now Warren is looking it smack in the eye, and it won't be many years before some neighbors will be doing the same.

The money side of it seems an unnecessary hurdle. With education one of our most vital assets with the spending of billions needed to help keep the economic picture bright, and with the government well stocked with those billions, why not provide a nation-wide program, using federal, state, and local funds in a combination fight against inadequate, out-dated, dangerous schooling?

Yesterday's school usually was built three-stories high, loaded with fancy gables, and with windows that were little more than slits. Many of them still stand straining the eyes, poor in ventilation, dangerous fire traps. In fact, our school system is so bad that about fifty per cent of our boys and girls still are going to one-room structures, despite the many consolidations.

In Warren there has been some talk of remodeling the present high school. This we deplore because we can see no possibility of making this a modern school. It is basically otherwise.

The present high school fits the pattern of the old school so completely that the spending of money thereon would not give us what we require functionally, and in a very few years would prove to be a wasteful expenditure of money.

The basic points against it include the following:

1. It is situated near a busy street, creating an injury hazard.
2. The site is completely covered by building, leaving no outdoor play area, no room for expansion, and no facilities for parking. Expansion in this area requires the costly purchase of very valuable property, and if you were to buy the entire block in which it sits you still would not have what a really modern school site can make possible.

3. The windows are too small and we doubt if they can be adequately modernized to provide the required light and ventilation for so concentrated a building.

4. It is three stories high, a grotesque combination of angles and spires, resulting in a fire hazard no matter how elaborately you work at fire escapes and other types of exits. It is old, and the timber within it is dry. With its combination of hallways, up-drafts, down-drafts, and chopped up room formations it cannot be made into a truly safe building without practically a rebuilding job. And it isn't getting any younger.

5. There are sites available that will be almost as accessible to most Warren pupils, and will be even closer to a large percentage of those attending. This is one of the major arguments used against sites on the edge of town, but Warren is so laid out that sites can be found in the elbows created by its angular geography.

Future transportation costs are a major item to be considered in the construction of consolidated schools. For that reason, any school should be close to the bulk of its population. In Warren the biggest number of homes lie within an area that encompasses the Fifth, Eighth, and parts of neighboring wards. The upper Fifth is our fastest growing residential area. There are sites lying not far from the elbow formed by Pennsylvania ave. and Conewango ave. which will allow most of these boys and girls to walk to school, some of them with less effort than required today.

Such a site gets away from the traffic problem, provides acreage to allow more varied teaching activities, and other community advantages. These advantages can include insurance against high costs in obtaining land for expansion at later dates, and room for outdoor activities which will benefit all who live in the area. In the case of the Warren area, financial help from the state in the construction of athletic facilities would be very welcome. Memorial field then would become a major play area.

Warren will build stands, a swimming pool, and related projects some day. If these are made a part of the school project the state will finance a share of the cost. And there is nothing to prevent the Jaycees or some group from boosting things along with a drive for funds with which to help pay for these additional assets.

According to the September issue of the "School Executive" as studied by the Warren Area joint committee, a general rule has been advanced that no school should be remodeled if the estimated cost exceeds two-thirds the cost of replacement. This rule, of course, assumes that the remodeled building would result in as satisfactory a facility as a wholly new building, and the cost should be so estimated.

Right there we believe is enough argument to kill the consideration of the present school in the Warren area. We see no way in which it can be changed, or sufficient land be added, to provide a facility as satisfactory as a wholly new school on ample acreage. And when it comes to buying such acreage in town we are certain that the cost will exceed two-thirds the new school cost.

That article said much more, but it already has been seen by the committee and it only lends support to what already has been written here at this time and in preceding articles. We believe it will be a major mistake if the Warren Area Jointure attempts to build a school and related structures on any place but a completely new and clear site.

Not So Far Future

There is another aspect of education which may come to an area of this size sooner than you expect. The junior college soon may be with us. And Warren, as the county seat, should be prepared to house that college. There is no reason why it can not be a part of the main education plant, in this case the joint high school. State and federal aid may make this step possible in a very few years and it will become a major part of our educational system.

Already such colleges are developing in progressive states. New York has started the idea and Jamestown's college is gaining in prestige as it receives an ever-growing portion of help from private and public sources. Pennsylvania no doubt will do the same.

There are many other phases of education which may sprout in the decade ahead. A new school should be constructed in such a way that full advantage can be taken of avenues that are opened to progress in this vitally important field.

To Wit Or Not To Wit

By Doris Fleeson

WASHINGTON -- Adlai Stevenson's famous wit is still a subject of some controversy among Democrats as they confront the prospect that he will be their Presidential candidate again in 1956.

They say that they like it themselves and that it is an asset to the party. But they raise the question of whether the American people want it in a President.

One thing no public man ever feels the lack of in this republic, and that is advice. Stevenson's aides admit that his mail is still full of counsel about whether he should or should not, as most of the writers put it, "be funny."

Stevenson actually is not "funny." He is not a humorist in the accepted sense and he rarely tells jokes. Many men who do are a great success in public life. An example is the new junior Senator from Kentucky, Alben Barkley, who has an inexhaustible fund of pleasant anecdotes to illustrate his homely wisdom. The former Veep not merely gets by with them; they are part of his strength.

Stevenson's case is different. He is a wit — and wit, like poetry, distills a knowledge of human life and character that is often profound and sometimes uncomfortable even when it is enjoyable. If Stevenson had only a pleasant humor, it would not occur to anybody to worry about it.

What his wit does is serve to remind his supporters that he is an intellectual, and that is what they are really concerned about. It is the old question raised in 1952 in the rather crude form of "How many eggheads are there?" The snobbery implicit in the question, of course, is that the speaker is capable of appreciating Stevenson but the American people can't and won't.

The Stevenson staff believes that the press, unconsciously or not, fosters the impression that Stevenson consistently tries to scare off people with witty remarks. "One joke or witty comment in a speech and it gets the lead and the headlines," an aide mourned at New Orleans. "Once I told him that for a change I'd like to see a headline about 'a grim and angry Stevenson.'"

"So what happens? He tried to please me and that night the reporters descended on me and said: 'What gives? Is Adlai going to turn into one of those dull cliché artists? Is he tired, or what?'"

A shrewd Stevenson supporter, whose political fortunes are closely bound to his, believes that while wit can be dangerous in politics it is Stevenson's means of communication with the masses of people who do not read his carefully reasoned speeches. He also thinks that as a practical matter it is silly to try to change him.

Few American Presidents are renowned for their humor or wit. Indeed, Abraham Lincoln may be the only one and his reputation in that field largely grew after his death. His broad humor was much more likely to be spoken than written, but his pointed wit appeared frequently in his writings.

Stevenson might also draw some comfort from Carl Van Doren's observation that "No other American President owed so much to his writings as Lincoln did. Lincoln aimed in his masterpieces to affect national opinion directly and at once.... He always wrote for particular occasions. They have survived in the national memory because he did more than he tried to do or knew he was doing."

BUYERS' CORNER

Incorrect Ads

You hear many discussions concerning advertising and the many situations which can develop. We believe an open discussion of these may be helpful to both the advertiser and the buyer. Today we are thinking of mistakes that may occur in an ad.

We have seen advertisers very perturbed when a price appeared incorrectly in their ad. The fact is that they and the public might as well learn that such mistakes are unavoidable and will happen now and then. Machines will fail to bring down a figure, proof readers will miss them, or another mistake may be made by the machine in the process of correcting the line. They will slip in!

But no one is responsible. The ad is merely an offer to sell and not a contract of sale. An advertiser is not bound to sell an item at the wrong price, even if the ad does list it. For example, if the figure "1" does not come in a line composed on a typesetting machine and changes a price from $12.99 to $2.99, the advertiser is not bound to sell the product at the incorrect price.

In fact, the offering of an item for sale through an ad does not impose a legal obligation on the advertiser to sell that item. There must be a meeting of minds between the buyer and the seller before the point of sale in any transaction is reached.

This simmers down to the following: Newspapers are not legally bound to appease either the merchant or the buyer when an error occurs, the advertiser is not legally bound to sell an advertised product either for the price stated or at all, and the buyer will find that merchants, ad writers, and printers are human, even as they, and will make mistakes. The trouble is that in this business your mistakes show.

This is not written because of any trouble we have suffered, but as part of a series that will deal with problems involving advertising and merchandising, and on which there have been legal decisions that should prove of value both to the seller and to the buyer. As usual, let the buyer beware! Aid To The Advertiser?

We placed a question mark after that sub-head because we wonder if we are about to help the advertiser or send him spinning. Perhaps you read the results of a survey made by the University of Michigan Survey Research Center and published by Business Week. It revealed some inconsistencies about the buying public.

For example, two-thirds of the people who are satisfied users of a particular brand of appliance do not buy that same brand when a replacement is needed. And lower-income group buyers, who you would think should manage their money very carefully, are less apt to be careful and deliberate in making major purchases.

That last one may not be as inconsistent as it sounds. In making such a survey the low income people contacted would include many who have stayed in that class for many years. Perhaps one of the reasons for this is revealed by their poor buying habits, which also may indicate other weaknesses in their ability to make a higher income.

The survey also revealed that young married couples take more care in buying major items than do older and presumably wiser people, who the survey showed to be careless and capricious in their buying habits.

It revealed that about half the washing machine purchases are made because the old one broke down. The next most prevalent reason is attraction to a newer model. A fourth of the buyers of new refrigerators do so because they are inspired by a new model. About forty-two percent buy refrigerators because the old one went bad.

The main reason for buying TV sets is to serve as a present at Christmas, or on a birthday, or for a family reason. A broken set, a new item, or a change in financial status are the next most popular reasons for buying a TV receiver.

A third of the people do not buy a new stove until theirs breaks down. About one-fourth buy one when attracted to a new model. A big share buy stoves when they move.

These facts may help you in preparing copy. Basically they suggest that it is well to have your name and product always before the public, because the biggest share of buyers are not going to visit a store until their old appliance is wearing out. It then is important to have your name in their mind and always to have it on the pages of the current issue of whatever publication they are reading.

And obviously a fifth of those readers can be appealed to on the basis of new features in the late models. About eighteen per cent of them buy for this reason. This varies between appliances but that is the general figure.

About one-seventh of them buy even appliances for presents.

Which brings us around to Christmas ads and the need to reach all prospects for whatever reason they may have to buy. Whatever the reason, Christmas is a good time to make the purchase. Not only are you meeting a need but you are making someone happy.

OUTDOORS

(GAME COMMISSION RELEASE) Deer Kill Report Required

Successful deer hunters are reminded the kill tag portion of their license must be mailed to the Game Commission, Harrisburg, within five days after the close of the season, which ended December 11.

The cooperation of persons who killed deer but who were not required to secure a license is solicited. A postal card with the answers to questions on the license tag will suffice. Successful deer hunters who used the tag in reporting a bear kill and those who lost the report portion of their license should supply the following information: the hunter's name and address, the license number if he had one, the date, township and county in which the deer was taken, the dressed weight of the animal, and the number of points on both antlers.

Aside from the requirement of law, information gathered from big game returns helps the state's wildlife authorities with their management problems.

Game Birds Released In 1954

The Game Commission propagated and released these game birds during 1954:

Mature ring-necked pheasants, reared on state game farms or purchased from commercial breeders and liberated in this year, totaled almost 100,000.

Over 7,300 wild turkeys, propagated at the State Wild Turkey Farm, were turned loose in the Commonwealth over the same period.

Bobwhite quail, raised at the Commission's Eastern Game Farm and liberated in Pennsylvania totaled 5700.

Over 8,100 mallard ducks were reared and liberated under the Commission's duck program.

Under the day-old pheasant chick program over 218,000 chicks were distributed to Farm-Game Co-operators and sportsmen in 1954. On the basis of previous records, about 80 percent of these chicks were raised to maturity to increase the supply of birds for the gun last fall and in future.

Twenty-five pairs of Hungarian partridges from the Province of Ontario, Canada, were released in Crawford County, northwestern Pennsylvania, last March.

In addition to the birds released, more than 59,500 cottontail rabbits, 7,000 of them eartagged were live-trapped last winter and released in suitable habitat.

Prize Stories

Proving "truth is stranger than fiction" some of these items, culled from recent reports, could qualify in a hunter's tall story contest.

In November, a deputy game protector in southeastern Pennsylvania watched a hunter shoot a cock pheasant. As the man walked over to pick up the bird another like it popped out of his hunting coat and ran. The hunter laid the "pocket" bird low, causing the deputy to ask, "Which bird would the man count as his first one?"

A southeastern game protector was amazed to hear a woman ask, over the telephone, "Is it lawful to hunt small game with darts?" The officer surmised someone who practiced the dart game in tap-rooms had become so proficient he sought a more exciting test of skill.

Late in October, a southwestern game protector went out to pick up a deer freshly killed by an auto. At the scene the woman whose car struck the deer wryly explained to the two children with her that there lay an animal like their father hunts but never gets.

A northwestern game protector recalls the opening day of the 1954 duck season was a cold, miserable one. Regardless, he says, he watched a hunter wearing low shoes wade in a swamp up to his beltline to retrieve a duck he had shot down.

This fall, a northcentral game protector saw a crow fly out of a thicket onto a road and begin feeding on a dead gray squirrel there. A belligerent gray squirrel, very much alive, rushed out and pounced on the crow, sending him back to the thicket cawing for mercy. The officer wonders whether the live squirrel was protecting its mate even after death or just showing natural enmity for the winged rascal.

A southcentral game protector reports that on October 20th a hunter killed a 36-inch rattlesnake carrying 10 rattles. A deputy game protector in the same part of the state shot a rabbit on October 30th. On picking up the animal he saw a snake squirming on the ground. The shot that stopped the rabbit killed the snake also.

In the northeast, an officer checked a hunter the first day and learned he had not signed his hunting license. The man's hunting companion severely reprimanded him for the omission. The issuing agent handed him a pen when he bought his license, he said. You may have guessed, when the critic's license was inspected it, too, was found to be unsigned.

A man drove 60 miles, in assorted bad weather, to the northeastern part of the state to hunt on the opening day of the 1954 small game season. At his destination he found his gun case contained only the barrels of his pump gun. A farmer friend loaned him a beaten-up "one pipe" weapon, with which he bagged two birds and a rabbit.

While a deputy game protector in the northeast checked duck hunters one day last month a buck deer appeared out of the brush and rubbed his antlers on the car.

Ice Skating

At this writing we had had enough cold weather to make ice skating possible if facilities were available. That "if" has kept quiet the blades of prospective flashing feet for many years.

A few days ago we heard a young lady ask, "Why don't they flood Beatty field?" The question reminded us that what seems like yesterday is at least eight years ago, and our experience with Beatty is about eleven years old. This young hopeful wasn't old enough to know what was transpiring in those times.

This office has been closely related with efforts to provide skating for Warren, and what it has learned should be of benefit to all who aspire to recreational accomplishments on an icy surface. We learned the hard way with a fire hose in our hands, and the thermometer bouncing under zero.

Beatty has a drainage system that cost the borough a fancy figure. Put anything on it that is in a moist condition and it won't stay. Pfft!

Warren county has much ground of a similar nature. It has a high gravel content and the first day of medium temperature takes the ice away in the natural drainage.

We also lack sufficient cold weather to hold ice that is built up by spraying. In fact, you have very few nights when you can spray the ice effectively. To build ice this way requires some very cold evenings, and many stout-hearted volunteers. Then comes the warm days and off goes your ice.

After experimenting with this on several areas it becomes obvious that there are two ways to efficiently build rinks in the Warren area. One is to create a hard surface pond, that will freeze when the cold comes and will hold the melting ice when the sun comes out. The other is more expensive but of proved worth, and involves brine pipes with a refrigeration system. This does not come cheap. There is more to providing a skating area than just exposing water to freezing temperatures. You also must keep it free of snow, and the ice must be smoothed. Scraping machines can be made or purchased to help in this work, and of course a new layer of ice often will be the remedy.

This is one the Warren Jaycees could take on, and we are surprised they haven't acted before now. To do it right, the refrigeration method would be the best for this inconsistent climate, and there might be some units available with which they could experiment. If it worked on a small area, a hard surface could be provided on Memorial Field next summer. This could be used for many purposes in the summer months, and late in December brine pipes could be laid and water provided. The refrigeration equipment would keep ice available until spring.

We strongly advocate this step because of several reasons. One is the demand, which was evident in the survey made by the Jaycees for the Recreation committee last year. Ice skating was one of the leaders.

A very strong argument in its favor is the complete lack of winter sports in this area, and the great worth of such activities. No gymnasium will do you as much good as a sport that takes you into the open air. In the summer we have golf, fishing, gardening, and other pleasures that are beneficial. In the winter we become hot house flowers.

Other winter sports are dependent on the weather, and you may have some years when sledging and skiing are available for many weeks. However, these are very rare. Skating need not wait on the weather if we provide the right facilities.

Oil City now has two rinks. Titusville has one. Is Warren any less progressive than these communities? A drive will raise the funds. A small charge will help finance maintenance. What are we waiting for?

Cagers Split In Week's Action

Experience paid off for the Bradford Owls last Tuesday night and they hooted their way past the Dragon basketball team 65 to 47 here. The Blue and White was in the game until the start of the second half when Don DeVoe of Bradford ran wild and scored 13 points. The Massamen trailed by only two points at the end of the first quarter and were behind by the same amount with a minute to go in the second quarter when the Owls got hot and ended the quarter 2 points in front of the Dragons.

The inexperience of the Dragons showed up mainly in their many bad passes which were grabbed off by Bradford and usually converted into 2 points for its cause. Jeff Homan, a youngster who was in there trying hard the whole game, had 19 counters for Warren. Don DeVoe had 17 and Robert Coburn, 15, for the winners.

The Dragons travel to Sheffield for a return game tomorrow night and then will not see action until the Alumni game on December 28.

A ten-point lead with only two minutes left to play in a basketball game is not always an assurance of victory as the Dragons just about found out from the Sheffield Wolverines last Friday. The Warrenites could only squeeze by the visitors 52 to 50 although they were riding on the long end of a 51 to 41 count with two minutes to go in the game. Another few minutes and Dragon followers might have been a good deal gloomier than they were when they left Beaty gym. Jeff Homan, who played a fine floor game for the Warren five, had 14 points to lead Warren scorers. Bill Massa was hot on his heels with 13 points. Don Labesky took scoring honors for the night by dumping in 23 points for Sheffield.

undefeated in 3 games square off tonight at 8 p. m. on the Y court with first place honors in the YMCA basketball league at stake.

During the past week the Stylists offense really clicked as they trounced Youngsville-Tidioute 87 to 58, and rolled over Sugar Grove 84 to 43. Bob Wolfe took scoring honors in both games with 25 and 23 points. Dave Berdine closely trailed him with 22 and 19 points.

The Dukes chalked up their third win by nipping the Rockets 63 to 60. Basil Kulka was the high Duke with 27 markers. Bill Tannler led the Rockets with 14. In the week's other game the Rockets downed Sugar Grove 57 to 41. Jack White had 18 for the winners and Marsh paced Sugar Grove with 17 counters.

Warren High wrestlers started out the new season on the right foot last Thursday night by downing the visiting Oil City grapplers 26 to 22. It was the bigger boys who came through with flying colors to tack down the win for Coach Homer Barr's wrestlers who went through 10 dual matches last season without a defeat. Bob Smith and Chuck Eaton pinned their opponents for Warren and Wayne Miller, Jim Hackman, and Larry Cameron won decisions for the Dragons. Oil City was without the services of their 95-pounder and, Warren took that match by forfeit.

Wrestlers' Winning Streak Broken

DuBois proved too much for the local matmen Tuesday night and downed Warren 28 to 18. Bob Olson, Bill Cummings, Chuck Eaton and Larry Cameron scored wins for the Blue and White with DuBois taking the other seven matches.

Clearfield comes to Beaty gym tonight to meet the Dragons who ended a long Clearfield winning streak last year. The match will get under way at 7 p. m.

Area Scores

This week found Warren edging Sheffield, 52 to 50, and dropping one to Bradford 65 to 47. In other county action Youngsville tripped Lawrence Park, 65 to 52, and then Sheffield took Youngsville, 69 to 54. Tidioute took two by downing Townville, 56 to 44, and taking North Clarion, 56 to 51. Northern Area got by Wattsburg, 39 to 34, and walloped Spartansburg, 66 to 31.

Other schools in District 10, Section II also saw action. Meadville dumped Erie East, 74 to 41. Titusville won over Millcreek, 52 to 42, and dropped a 53 to 44 decision to Greenville. Corry squeezed by Union City, 63 to 61, and then dropped a game to Erie Tech, 72 to 56. Oil City was taken by Erie Academy, 70 to 54, and Franklin lost to Clarion-Limestone, 55 to 48.

Up in Erie, Prep was taken by Sharon, 77 to 49, and Academy beat Oil City, 70 to 54. New Castle got by Strong Vincent, 70 to 64. Erie Tech beat Corry, 72 to 56, and was spanked by Bradford, 60 to 45. Erie East lost one to Meadville, 74 to 41, and defeated Wesleyville 65 to 45.

Kane continued to show its power and was victorious over Punxsutawney, 71 to 47. Farrell won two games, 62 to 50 over Greensburg and, 58 to 54 over McKeesport. In New York State Jamestown was 66 to 61 better than Gowanda and Southwestern was shaded, 58 to 57, by Dunkirk.

Both East Forest and West Forest lost one game during the week. Sigel downed West Forest, 44 to 38, and Keystone ended the game with a 73 to 55 verdict over East Forest.

Port Allegany edged St. Marys, 45 to 44 and then was dumped by Johnsonburg, 73 to 49. Johnsonburg also beat Sandy Township, 48 to 32. Smethport was too strong for Ridgway and downed them, 52 to 49. St. Marys dropped a 54 to 45 decision to Clearfield and Emporium bested Wilcox, 46 to 41 and was beaten by Coudersport, 68 to 40.

Jr. Hi-Y League

The Jr. Hi-Y Basketball League opened its 1954-55 season on the YMCA court Wednesday afternoon with Francis Bevevino's aggregation trimming Doug Lind's team, 46-17.

Bevevino paced his own team with 20 points, followed by Gleason with nine. Drum led the losers with seven counters. The Branch's and Albaugh's will have their initial game at 2:00 Saturday afternoon.

Want To Make $1,500?

That is the first prize which will be paid to three communities in Pennsylvania for doing a winning job of making their communities better places to live, places in which people will want to live, and communities to which industry is attracted. It is a contest sponsored by the Bell Telephone Co., Penelec, Pennsylvania Farm Bureau Association, Pennsylvania Gas, Pennsylvania Motor Truck Association, and the Pennsylvania Chamber of Commerce.

There are three classes, under 2,500, from there to 10,000, and communities of 10,000 and up. Entry blanks must be submitted by March 31, 1955, and the judging will be done on scrapbooks outlining accomplishments which must be received by March 1, 1956.

There also are second, third, and fourth place prizes of $1,000, $500, and $250 in each class. This office has such a blank if your community wants to give it a whirl.

Commercial Changes

If all the curb-stone talk is factual there will be many changes in Warren's business section soon. At least two major restaurant sales are in the making if all parties involved come to terms. Two less parking lots may be available soon if discussed buildings become a reality. And one large building is very much up for sale.

Newspaper Talk

And what has happened to the former Warren boy who is reported as showing a major interest in the daily newspaper field in these parts? Even a bit of local capital seemed intrigued enough to ask questions but.....no sale?

Wage Tax

There are some who believe a wage tax is the answer to Warren's financial problem. At a half of one per cent it would raise enough funds to do plenty of business.

What the advocates like most about it is the taxing of many who move just outside of town to escape local assessments but enjoy the benefits through the plants in which they work. And even a straight wage tax is fairer than a straight per capita. At least the amount is determined by the size of the figures on your pay check.

Attention, Farmers

Starting in January, most farm operators and their workers will be covered by the social security law. Get your card now from the Social Security Office, an extension of which is open in the state armory in Warren, every Tuesday.

COUNTY NEWS in brief . . .

Safe Driving Day was violated early in Warren County as two New York State drivers tangled at 2:15 a. m. near the state line on the Kiantone road. John Alm, Jamestown, traveling north struck a snow plow which had crossed from the Empire state to turn around in a driveway. Alm received cuts and scratches and $2,000 damages to his car. Arthur Johnson of Jamestown, driver of the snow plow was uninjured and his vehicle sustained about $10 in wrinkles.

A Tired Doe was pulled from a pit near the National Forge clubhouse on Wednesday morning, December 8, by Game Commissioner William Overturf and a crew of sturdy men. The animal was discovered swimming in about five feet of water in an excavation which was to house a septic tank.

After the removal was accomplished with a strong rope and strong backs, a red handkerchief was tied around the deer's neck and she was released. Complete exhaustion forced the wood's creature to rest for two hours before venturing again into the wilderness.

Total Damages Of $350 resulted when an auto being driven by Robert D. Trubic, 112 N. Carver st., rammed a truck which was operated by Morris Blumber, 141 Maine st., Oil City, at 5:50 p. m., Tuesday, December 14. Both vehicles were traveling west on Madison ave. at the time of the mishap.

Today Is Moving Day for approximately one hundred fifty Beaty students who have been using the facilities of Jefferson school while the junior high school construction has been continuing. Five home rooms of seventh graders will occupy the new addition which is nearly completed.

Democratic Strength was revealed in a summary of Warren County registrations from the opening after the general election through last week. Twenty-five Democrats have been added to the previous total by thirteen new registrants and twelve "change-overs" who were previously Republicans. The Republicans netted a loss of six as twelve changed to Democratic, two became non-partisans, and eight new recruits signed up.

Inexperienced Mail Carriers will be walking the routes in Warren borough for the Christmas rush as the regulars will be busy casing the mail. Postal officials suggest that you mark clearly on your mail box the names of individuals who receive mail at your address, place a basket beneath your box for excess mail, and arrange for neighbors to receive your parcel post when you are to be away from home. Your assistance will greatly facilitate the delivering of mail and help in the avoidance of errors.

A Fine Of $100 And Costs was ordered by Judge Alexander C. Flick, Jr. against Orville H. Hulings, R. D. 1, Tidioute. Hulings was charged with operating a motor vehicle while his license was suspended.

A Pittsfield Man, Charles Kemery, was released on $200 bail and ordered to appear for jury trial in the February term of court, in an assault and battery case heard by Justice of the Peace Henry Danielson. The complaint was registered by Pearl Kemery.

The Flashing Bells and the life size Santa, located on Pennsylvania ave. at the entrance to Second ave., are new additions to Warren borough's Christmas street lighting collection. The Warren Retailer, a publication of the Retailers Committee of the Warren Chamber of

Warren Area Directors Dine; Elect Officers

Almost one hundred percent of the Warren Area Directors met in their annual meeting at the Beaty cafeteria, Wednesday evening. After dining on turkey with all the trimmings, the directors re-elected Melvin Keller, president; L. M. Schaeffer, vice president; K. R. Barrett, secretary; and W. H. Cowden, treasurer. These same men were elected later to the same positions for the Joint Committee.

The Joint Committee accepted the recommendation of Mr. Passaro that Baccalaureate be held on Sunday, June 5, and Commencement on Monday, June 6, in the First Presbyterian church.

Permission was granted for thirty members of the Spanish club to take a trip by plane to Cuba, leaving Pittsburgh, Wednesday evening, April 6 and returning, Monday evening, April 11. Miss Spencer, club sponsor, has agreed to chaperone and parents would assume the responsibility for the students. Further permission was granted for the club members to earn approximately one-half the costs by selling wreaths, conducting bake sales, etc.

In accordance with a previous agreement with borough officials, a payment of seven percent of the gross receipts from the football games for use of War Memorial Field was approved. The total amounted to $375.08.

Reports of Superintendent of Schools Carl E. Whipple revealed that 347 students have had a day off from studies for deer hunting and the total kill was apparently fourteen. A donation of $25 was received from the Chamber of Commerce in appreciation for the forty members of the Dragon band who helped with the Christmas lighting parade.

Payment certificates totaling $48,506.57 were reported which included $38,812.84 to Matthew L. Carroll, $5,459.81 to McCalls P & H Co., $2,754 to David N. Brown, and $1,479.92 to Sans Corporation.

The Area Authority, responsible for the construction of Beaty addition, held its meeting at the same time as the Joint Committee and re-elected Cecil C. Winans, chairman; Milton A. Peterson, vice chairman; Donald L. Curtis, secretary, and Paul E. Ristau, treasurer. Other members of the Authority are: Gifford Quiggle, Kinzua; Carl Peterson, Russell; Howard Thompson, Clarendon; Edward McLaughlin, Tidioute, and Glenn Elliott, Pleasant Twp.

Commerce, reports that a solicitation campaign to replenish the Christmas street lighting fund is meeting excellent response.

For Possessing Narcotics, John Sherwood, of Sheffield, was given a suspended sentence of six months in the Allegheny Workhouse and was placed on probation for two years, to report regularly to Sheriff Larry Linder and Melvin Keller. He also was ordered to pay court costs of $46.

Sherwood was one of two boys arrested the night of the Jamestown game. He pleaded guilty and faced Judge Alexander C. Flick last Friday. It is alleged Sherwood obtained the marijuana from a Clarendon boy, who has pleaded not guilty and is out on $1500 bail awaiting the February session of court. It has been claimed that the Clarendon boy and a friend from Buffalo obtained the narcotics from the Chicago area. The companion went on to California.

Jaycee Report that they received $136.50 through their Olympic Day collection at a Warren football game. They also announced an informal round and square dance planned for members and invited friends January 22 at the Marconi Club as a part of Jaycee Week. And they have learned that the baseball excursion placed fifth in the state as the project of the month in August.

The Jaycees voted $100 for Christmas baskets to be supervised by the Salvation Army, and decided to have a leadership training program for their members. They also are forming a chapter in Kane under the leadership of Ed Ryberg.

A Report Of $2,500 in receipts, to date, in the Warren Rotarian Club's drive to establish a financial footing for the newly-organized Warren County Probation Society, was made by the Society's treasurer, E. C. Rasmussen. The service club intends to raise $5,000 per year for the next five years. The fund will be used to pay part of the salary of a full-time probation officer and other administrative costs. Contributors are requested to maintain a minimum of $10 but larger gifts are being urged by the solicitors.

Police Are Still Searching for the two men who left the Pennzoil Service Station on Pennsylvania ave. W., Monday evening, without paying for the gasoline the attendant pumped into their tank. An argument arose when one of the men refused to pay for the fuel as he insisted that he ordered oil, not gasoline. Fists flew with the customer apparently getting the worst of the exchange. Few clues were left by the visitors to aid the police departments in their search.

Equalized Assessments! The Warren County Commissioners are reported to be considering employing an outside firm to establish an adequate and equalized plan of assessment for the entire County. The cost for the service is estimated to total $145,000. Many counties in the State have already had such appraisals conducted and from their experiences the local authorities feel that the cost will be repaid in a short time.

NEWEST CUB PACK. The application for chartering Cub Pack 11 under the sponsorship of Lacy PTA has just been filed with National Headquarters of the Boy Scout movement but the boys put on a "humdinger" of a program at their first meeting, Monday evening. Thirty-three boys, assisted by a few underage enthusiasts, under the leadership of Den Mothers Doris Sager, Genevieve Bean, Elsa Brooker, Margaret Barrett, Leah Lindberg, Mary E. Anderson, and Gladys Dase presented a variety show. Their Cubmaster is William E. Brooks.

Snappy repartee could certainly be expected from these blackfaced entertainers: Charles Kjellin, Ronald Knopf, Dennis Sager, Donald McCurdy, David Smith and Chuck Stephens.

Calling by Number Is Important . . . More Than Ever During the Holidays!

At this time of year more people than ever visit faraway family and friends by telephone. And even though we've made many special arrangements to handle the extra volume, some calls may not go through as quickly as you—and we—would like.

You can be sure your operator will do her level best to handle all your calls promptly. However, you can help her give you faster, better service during the Holiday Season by following this simple suggestion:

Whenever possible, give the operator the number of the telephone you want to reach. That way, she won't have to detour your call through Information, and it will go through much faster.
